

REPORT

My name is Festus Aziamakpor from Mawulolo youth network and orphanage. I chose to do this good deed because first of all I love music very much, secondly I love teaching other young ones and anybody interested in playing the keyboard (piano). I have been able to learn how to play basic tunes on keyboard with the help of my director the same time my teacher Mr. Michael Ashong who happens to be a musician.

Henrietta Badah is the name of the young girl I thought. She is eight years of age and we all live together. She likes music as I do but we both can't learn it at the same time so I took the opportunity to teach her a basic tune as my good deed.

She was really excited when I told her I would teach her how to play a new tune with the keyboard. She doubted if I was speaking the truth because on several occasions has she asked me to teacher but I told her I was still learning to play the piano and would do that when I have fully learnt how to play it.

Teaching her to play the basic tune with the keyboard was quiet interesting. She got a difficult start at the beginning and I felt a bit stressed whenever she didn't get the keys right but I told her I was going to make sure she did it. She really had a hard time with the notes on the keyboard but I told myself I was going to do this. My teacher had to help at a point before she got it right.

I saw joy and happiness in her when she finally got it right it was really interesting. She sang the whole day and told my other brothers and sisters what I thought her. They are all asking to be thought but I keep telling them I will do that when I get my own keyboard.

In all I will say it went very well and I will be glad to do more of this in the near future. I thank everyone who had hands in aiding me to teach my little sister a new song. I would be very glad if I could do more of this often.
